

Abstract – Oana Suciu, STONEHEMP

After 12 years in hemp in Romania, going from processing seeds to straw and contributing to updates of legislature and promotion of hemp growing we decided to once more pioneer one of the many uses of hemp and invested in a hempcrete spraying equipment with the dream of building healthy houses for inhabitants and the environment.

This presentation is about the challenges and first successes of the business of building with hemp in an eastern European country with relatively low income levels but vivid interest for healthy eating where people are just starting to learn how important healthy living is too.
